Announcement Cum Invitation

We are pleased to announce a 2 day National Seminar on "GREEN CHEMISTRY". Green Chemistry in the 1990s when research increasingly focused on development of environmentally benign processes to hazardous chemical processes.

The impetus for Green Chemistry is not just to replace toxic chemicals such as chromates and bromomaterials but also to make sure that wherever the substitutes and the Chemistry used to replace them are green and sustainable. More research is currently needed to address the challenges that other product-focused legislation present-safer, environmentally benign products are required in every commercial sector, with particular emphasis on flame retardants, plasticizers, adhesives and coatings.

Green Chemistry and the Environment uses environmental problems facing the campus and surrounding community, such as air and water quality or pollution, to teach basic Chemistry. In this seminar, students engage in community-based projects that allow them to put their Science to use in improving the campus environment.

Objectives

The seminar will provide an excellent platform to the researchers and teachers to share recent developments in the field. Prospective authors are invited to submit a full paper for review before in MS-Word New Roman font-size-12. Full length paper should be in double space typed pages (All size). Papers should include Abstract, Keywords, Introduction, Materials & Methods, Results & Discussion and Conclusions.

Publication of Paper

The proceedings of the Seminar will be published in Indian Journal of Scientific Research (IJSR) (Universal Impact Factor- 1.45) on behalf of the Department of Chemistry, Government College, Raipur.

Government College

Government College was established in 1979 with a vision to be regarded as a proactive institution which strives hard to fulfill the aspirations of students, help them in their academic and personal growth.

confidently through complexities and challenges of life. The college is successfully running 13 Departments including Science and Commerce faculties.

About City

This scientific meet is being organized in the city of Bilaspur which is in the Central Indian state of Chhattisgarh traditionally known as the Steel city owing to the giant Bilaspur Steel Plant of SAIL. Bilaspur is fast emerging as the knowledge capital of the state. Durg-Bilaspur is directly linked by rail on the Howrah Mumbai route.

The nearest railway station is Durg. The city is also well connected by road with Nagpur, Jabalpur and Bhubaneswar. The nearest airport is Raipur the capital of Chhattisgarh, about 40 kms from the venue which is an hour drive from the Steel city.

The weather in November is expected to be pleasant and light warm clothes will make you comfortable in the evening.

Subthemes of the Seminar

1. Supramolecular Chemistry
2. Natural product synthesis
3. Organometallic chemicals
4. Green catalysts, biocatalysts, phase transfer catalyst
5. Manufacture of oligonucleotide drugs
6. Reactions in solid phase
7. Green chemistry in everyday life
8. Green plastics
9. Green synthetic strategies
10. Phytochemicals

Registration Details

All authors of manuscript will have to register themselves separately. No TA/DA will be paid for participating in the Seminar.

About the College

Our college was established in 1979 with a vision to be acknowledged as a proactive institution which strives hard to fulfill the aspirations of students, help them in developing sound knowledge base, correct skills, attitudes and understanding to enable them to sail confidently through complexities and challenges of life. The college is successfully running 13 UG & PG Departments in Science & Commerce besides Education.

About Workshop

Traditional dissections remove animals from habitats. The demand for animal specimens for dissections has increased manifold, and we do not have this many number of animals. We cannot afford these both economically as well as from biodiversity point of view. The large scale removal of animals from the natural habitats disrupts the ecological balance. There is pertinent and urgent need to revamp the curriculum for Zoology laboratory learning. Practical experimental working is a must to let the students master the newer branches in the laboratory. This requires newer methods to give students the opportunities that make use of the laboratory experiments, develop necessary skills and gather appropriate knowledge of the subject called Zoology. The Present Workshop provides platform for exchange of ideas & knowledge, to learn new techniques & future possible collaboration with invited delegates (scientists, researchers & experts). Since Chhattisgarh is comparatively less developed and students & faculty do not get exposure to advances in modern scientific research, organizing the workshop will help in giving innovative ideas to students & faculty for future research. The workshop will also help post graduate students in deciding the topics of research for their M.Phil/Ph.D.

Thrust Areas

1. Live Zoology and digital alternatives for animal dissection.
2. Use of Non-Invasive Animal Teaching Aids.
3. Digitization of Museum Specimens.
4. Computational System Biology.
5. Simulation.
6. Clay Modeling etc.
7. Biodiversity
8. Microbiology
9. Discontinuation of Dissection and Animal Use in Experimentation
10. Environmental Studies
11. Forest Conservation

About Bilhail
